VICTOR MASOTTI

Born in Rimini on the 20th of September 2006, Victor Masotti is an Italian artist, who has been living and working in London since 2015.

Fascinated by geometry as well as by the shapes and colours of nature, using a spontaneous, self-taught approach to art, he creates works that highlight order, environment, and moods. Focusing mainly on simple forms, influenced by De Stijl and Concretism, Masotti manages to create works in which clear lines and clear colours harmonize, ordered sets and systems that allow the user to observe and interpret freely.

With the aim of making colour the protagonist of a world increasingly characterized by lifeless spaces, the artist experiments and moves through vastly different means and scales, nevertheless reaching a balance that the spectator perceives as the common thread of his entire work.

"Immense sculptures that reshape the space around us, drawings rich in multiple combinations of lines and colours, canvases that invite us to follow imaginary lines and then immerse ourselves in bright polygons." Each work is experienced by the artist as a microcosm that is always different and free from interpretative canons like his sculptures, accessible from all angles because they too are open like the canvases to a multiplicity of points of view.
